MEETING PLANNED FOR NEW VOTERS

CITIZENSHIP SESSION FOR WOMEN AT 2:30 WEDNESDAY

TO BE AT M. E. CHURCH

Mrs. W. K. James of St. Joseph, Miss Jessie Parcher, C. F. McCaffrey On the list of Speakers

Maryville at last is to have the beginning of a citizenship school for the newly enfranchised women of the community. A meeting, with speakers, will be held at 2:30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at the First M. E. church in Maryville. This meeting, which will take up citizenship problems, will be open to all the women of Maryville and the county, and all are invited to attend.

The speaker from out of town will be Mrs. W. K. James, a well known club woman of St. Joseph, who has had experience in the citizenship school that was conducted there during the summer. Mrs. James will speak on the ten points being urged by the National Committee on American Citizenship, as will Miss Jessie Parcher of Maryville, who is to be the local woman speaker.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles F. McCaffrey will speak on "The Laws of Missouri That Relate to Women."

It is probable that this meeting will be the beginning of a series. A meeting was scheduled for October 14, but no out of town speaker was available at that time.

The arrangements at present are being made by a committee from the Twentieth Century Club composed of Mrs. Fred Harvey, chairman, Mrs. C. C. Hellmers, Mrs. W. O. Garrett, Mrs. E. G. Orear, Mrs. W. A. Rickenbrode and Mrs. D. J. Thomas.

The ten points to which attention is called by the national committee are as follows:

1. Compulsory education in every state for all children between 6 and 16, 9 months of each year.
2. Education of adults by extension classes of the public school.
3. English made the national language by making it compulsory in all public and private schools where courses in general education are conducted.
4. Higher qualifications for citizenship and more sympathetic and impressive ceremonials for naturalization.
5. Direct citizenship for women not citizenship through marriage as a qualification for the vote.
6. Naturalization for married women to be made possible.
7. Compulsory publication in foreign language newspapers of lessons in citizenship.
8. Schools of citizenship in conjunction with the public school, a certificate from such schools to be a qualification for naturalization and for the vote.
9. An oath of allegiance to the United States for every citizen, native and foreign born, to be one qualification for the vote.
10. An educational qualification for the vote in all states after a definite date to be determined.

Mr. Gault was born November 29, 1840, near Maryville, Tenn., where he grew to manhood. He came to Missouri in 1866, going to Andrew county, where he worked for several years. On March 1, 1868, he came to this county, settling on a farm five miles west of this city, which place had been his home until 16 years ago, when he moved to Maryville. On October 5, 1873, he was married to Mary Jane Roberts. To this union eight children were born, seven of whom are still living. One daughter, Montie Verdie, died at the age of 12 years.

SOUTH METHODIST WOMEN TO RUN TEA ROOM AND EXCHANGE

Will be Upstairs on North Side of the Square; Will Open About the Middle of November

A new enterprise for Maryville, the "Come Again" Tea Room and Exchange, will be conducted by the women of the M. E. church, South, in the Beal building, in the room over the Howard Wray hardware company, entrance the second stairway east of Main street on Fourth. It will be opened about the middle of November, the date to be announced later.

The hours of serving will be from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. Only home cooked and appetizing dishes will be served.

ELLA FARRELL HIT BY A MOTOR CAR

POPULAR MARYVILLE GIRL RUN BY L. S. BYERS

IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Accident Happened at First and Main Saturday Night; a Cloudy Windshield Cause

State Historical Society COLUMBIA

Miss Farrell was reported as having regained consciousness late this afternoon and as being able to talk.

Miss Ella Ferrell, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farrell, 221 South Main street, is lying in an extremely serious condition at St. Francis hospital today, as the result of being run down Saturday night by a motor car driven by L. S. Byers, a Maryville grocer. She has concussion of the brain, is severly cut about the face and head, and is bruised less severely on other parts of the body. She has not recovered complete consciousness yet, although she has rallied at times. Her physician, Dr. Frank Wallis says there is a chance for her recovery if no new developements set in. It has been necessary to stitch several of the cuts on her face and head.

The accident happened about 7:45 Saturday night. Mr. Byers, who lives just south of First street, below St. Francis hospital, was on his way uptown, driving west on First street. His windshield was cloudy, as the result of the mist that had been falling. Just before he reached Main street, Miss Farrell, accompanied by Miss Frances Corcoran of St. Joseph, started crossing First street on her way up town on the east side of Main.

They had practically completed the crossing, when Mr. Byers, running slowly and looking around the other side of his shield for cars coming on Main, started to turn north on Main and struck Miss Farrell from behind. She was thrown down sharply on her face. According to Mr. Byers, the wheels did not pass over her, and he succeeded in stopping the car with the foot brake before it had passed beyond her body.

Miss Corcoran ran to the Physicians' Building and summoned Doctor Wallis, Mr. Byers remaining at the scene of the accident. Miss Farrell was taken to the hospital by Blaine Archer in his car.

Miss Farrell, who is well known and extremely popular in Maryville, has been serving as assistant to George A. Pickens, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, about a year. In that time she has become well acquainted with the business men of Maryville, and inquiries as to her condition are met with on all hands.

NO CLUES DISCOVERED YET TO THE CLEARMONT ROBBERS

Bloodhounds Picked Up Trail Leading to Automobile Tracks; a store at New Market Entered

No clues have been found to the robbers who robbed the Jackson bank and the Matlock and Pruitt & Son stores at Clearmont early Saturday morning.

The bloodhounds from Beatrice, Neb., arrived in Clearmont at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening and picked up the trail ,running from the depot to the stores, then the telephone office and the bank. From the bank, the dogs went half a block north, then a block west and then half a block north, where there footprints and auto tracks, and evidently where the men left in an automobile.

A store at New Market, Ia., was broken into about 4 o'clock Saturday morning, and it is thought by the authorities that the same men committed this crime who were at Clearmont.

Two strange men were seen in Clearmont Friday evening, but nothing much was thought of it, and the authorities have been unable to get a good description of the men ,except one was a big man and the other a small man.

Of the sixty-three private boxes in the Jackson bank, sixty-one were opened and rifled. The bank had a complete record of the bonds. It was thought today that from $15,000 to $20,000 in bonds were taken. No registered bonds were taken. No money was taken from the bank, the vault not being touched.

Mrs. D. W. Conner left yesterday for her home in Union, Ia., after a visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Goforth, and family.

The family home at 321 West Cooper street was recently sold, the family expecting to go to San Antonio, Tex., for a permanent residence, hoping that the change in climate would benefit Mrs. Smith's health. She became seriously ill a few days before they had planned to leave.

TEACHERS' SESSION WAS BIG SUCCESS

MORE THAN 1,000 WAS THE ESTIMATED ATTENDANCE

CITY PLEASED VISITORS

Staff of the College Paper Helped Gather the News in Real Metropolitan Style

The convention of Northwest Missouri teachers which closed Saturday was easily the biggest success of any similar gathering ever held here. It is estimated that more than a thousand teacher sattended.

The citizens of Maryville proved themselves wonderful hosts. Everywhere, and especially at the college, were heard complimentary remarks about the maner in which the teachers had been received. The reception committee at the trains, with the waiting cars to transport the visitors to their rooms ,were particularly appreciated. Many of the guests, before leaving, dropped in at headquarters to tell the committee there how well the people of the city had received them.

The music for the programs, which was furnished by Mrs. Robinson, Doctor Cox, Miss Hankins, Miss Swedeberg, Miss James and the students of the college, was praised very highly. Some of the teachers were heard to say that they had never heard better music at any convention.

The Chamber of Commerce, with the college factulty, labored diligently to provide every means to make the convention a success, and it was because all the small details were looked after that the large measure of award resulted. Especial credit should be given to Mr. Pickens, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; and to Mr. Hawkins, Miss Winn and Dean Colbert, who were the members of the general committee that made all the general arrangements at the college for the meetings. Each member of the faculty also deserves praise for the manner in which he performed the duties assigned him. The student body, too, were on the job. "They're nicer this year," was the comment on all sides, because each fellow did the thing he was supposed to do.

The credit for the news serivce of the convention goes in a large measure to the staff of the college paper. Real metropolitan methods were used. A reporter, after securing notes for part of the meeting would be relieved in order to get the notes in shape for the copy reader, who, in turn, rushed the material to a waiting typist. The errand committee were ready on notice to carry the copy to the newspapers. All the meetings were covered by this staff.

The newspapers aided materially in making this a successful meeting. Neither time ,effort or expense was spared to give it the proper advertising, and they gave geenrously of their space for reports of the sessions.

On the whole, it was the best convention, both as to numbers and management, ever held here. A representative of one of the book companies, who was present, said that it was his business to attend conventions, and that this one was the best he had attended in the state. As a speaker at the alumni luncheon said, "I wish all those who say that the morale of the teachers is degenerating might have been at this convention."

Mrs. Orear to D. A. R. Convention.

Mrs. Ed G. Orear left this morning for Kansas City where she will represent the local D. A. R. Chapter at the annual state conference to be in session from Tuesday to Thursday. Mrs. Orear will remain in Kansas City for a week's visit with her mother, Mrs. Ummethum, and her sister, Mrs. Charles Channing Allen.

"The strike can be averted," Lewis said. "What is necessary is for the government to confer with the operators and induce them to recognize the necessity of being guided by the law of reason and justice to the miners.

"Our policy has the unanimous sanction of all the members of our organization, President Wilson to the contrary notwithstanding."

Washington, Oct. 27.—Official Washington today awaited the move from the coal miners who are threatening to strike November 1. Be it Resolved, That the Northwest Missouri Teachers' Association favors a minimum salary law based on the preparation of the teachers, such salary to continue through the calendar year.

Be it Resolved, that we, as members of this association, go on record instructing the officers or committees of the association that have in charge the preparation of the program, to give the business session of the association a place on the program of the second day of the meeting.

Life of Daylight Saving Law Was Short and Filled With Trouble

(By International News Service.)

The life of the Daylight Saving Law was short and stormy. Enacted March 19,1918, as a war measure, the law provided for pushing ahead the clock one hour on the last Sunday in March and retarding it one hour on the last Sunday in October. It provided also, for five zones of standard time in the United States to govern the movement of all common carriers engaged in inter state commerce. This feature of the law has not been changed.

Almost from the hour the Daylight Savings law went into effect complaint arose against it. The coal miner declared it took from him his bed before sunrise in order to get to the mine at work hour, the farmer and trucker insisted that it sent them into their harvest fields and truck patches when the dew was still on the fields and an hour or more was lost waiting for the dew to dry under the sun.

But the argument for the law that it increased war production prevailed until the signing of the armistice November 11, 1918, when irresistible pressure came on congress for repeal of the law and a return to normal conditions of living and of production that had existed since the birth of the Republic.

It was in vain that the city dwellers argued that continuation of the day light saving hour promoted health by affording a larger portion of daylight for outdoor work and sport, and economists asserted that the extra hour of daylight saved 1,250,000 tons of coal through reduced use of artifical light in industry.

On June 18,1919, the House passed by a vote of 2362 to 122, the bill which afterward became a law repealing the daylight saving hour law. On the same day the Senate adopted an amendment to the Agriculture Appropriation bill repealing the law, and the Touse repealing bill was permitted to await Persident Wilson's' action on the Agriculture bill. The President vetoed the Agricultural appropriation bill July 11 because of the daylight saving law repeal rider, and sent Congress a special message urging continuation of the law.

Three days later, July 14, there came a test of the influence of the President and of oppenents of the law in the House on a motion to override the veto, but the President was sustained by a vote of 247 to 135, and the attempt to overired the veto failed by twenty-three votes less than the necessary two-thirds majority. After many threats the Senate accepted the decision of the Touse and re-enacted the Agricultural Appropriation bill without the objectionable rider, sending it back to the President, by whom it was approved.

On August 1 the Senate, recurring to its fight against the daylight saving law, passed the House bill which had been passed by the House June 18, and it was sent to the President. This bill was vetoed by the President August 15, and August 19 the House passed the bill over the veto by a vote of 228 to 101, or twenty-two more than the necessary two-thirds majority. The following day, August 20, the Senate overrode the veto by a vote of 57 to 19, and the repeal immediately became a law to be enforced on the last Sunday in October, or October 26.

Parade Boosts Motor Trucks.

St. Louis, Oct. 25.—Fifteen hundred motor trucks participated in a "ship by truck" parade here Thursday. The parade was headed by Mayor Kiel and was for the purpose of opening a state-wide campaign in the interest of the ship-by-truck movement, which, it is predicted, will revolutionize shipping for farmers. Governor Gardner, in a letter to a local bureau organized for ship-by-truck propaganda, recently came out as a strong advocate of the idea.

U. S. DEPARTMENT EXPLAINS METHODS OF SAVING SUGAR

Make Supply Go as Far as Possible by Careful Management; Some Recipes to Save It

If you are wise you will not use your last bit of sugar trusting to get more when the present supply is gone, but will avoid the possibility of totally sugarless days by making your small supply go as far as possible. This is the advice of home economics specialists in the United States department of agriculture.

Turn to your war conservation cook books and refresh your memory on ways to use the sugar substitutes. You will find many recipes for cakes, but most of them were built to save wheat as well as sugar. We have this cause for rejoicing at least: though we must cut down our use of sugar we still have wheat for cake-making and our old stand-bys in time of sugar stringency — molasses, corn syrup and honey—are still procurable.

The cakes made with syrup are not just like those made with sugar. In most cases they are less sweet. They do not fill an emergency need for cake, however. The following recipes use but little sugar:

Chocolate Cake.—¼ cup fat, 3 tablespoons sugar (brown or white), 2 eggs, 1 cup corn syrup, 2 squares melted chocolate, ½ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups wheat flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Cream the fat and sugar, add the egg yolks, syrup and melted chocolate and beat well. ,Sift the dry ingredients together and add alternately with the milk. Add vanilla and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in loaf or layers in a moderate oven.

For frosting—Cook ½ cup of corn syrup until it form a long thread when dropped from a spoon. Pour over the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and beat until thick enough to spread.

These little individual Spice Cakes, baked in muffin tins, are also very good.—3 tablespoons fat, 4 tablespoons sugar, ¾ cup corn syrup, 1 egg, ½ cup milk, 2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon spice, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ⅛ teaspoon of cloves, ½ cup chopped raisins. Mix in order given.

These Oat Meal Cookies are very good and they use no sugar—½ cup fat, ½ cup of molasses, ½cup of corn syrup, 1 egg, 1¾ cups rolled oats, ½ cup raisins, ½ cup chopped nuts, 1½ cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon soda, ¾ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon allspice. Mix and drop from a spoon on greased baking sheet. Bake in a quick oven.

Along this same line remember that the old fashioned gingerbread calls for no sugar. Why not serve it more often as an autumn dessert? It is delicious served warm with whipped cream.

LUXURY WILL BE A FEATURE OF ROYAL LIVE STOCK SHOW

Special Building Obtained to House Cattle For Exhibit at Kansas City November 15-22

Never have pure bred beef cattle been sheltered or shown under such luxurious conditions as will be those that will be shown in Convention Hall, Kansas City, November 15 to 22, at the American Royal Live Stock Show.

They will be stabled in as great comfort as they will be shown. The buildings on the south side of Thirteenth street, opposite Convention Hall, used for the overflow exhibits at the recent farm congress and soil exposition, have been retained to stable and stall the cattle in and they will be led from these comfortable, well lighted and well ventilated quarters into the arena in Convention Hall.

More states will contribute beef breed show cattle to the American Royal this year than ever before. From Dixieland will come herds, from Texas, Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky. Ohio, Indiana and Illinois will send their best beef breed herds, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Washington and Arizona will send beef breed contributions. Canada will show this year, too.

Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma will send more beef breed cattle to the Royal this year than ever before.

The reason for the increasing number of cattle to be shown this year is the prize monies offered, excelling by far the prizes offered for beef breed cattle at any prior American Royal. Then, too, Convention Hall, as a showing place, right in the heart of the city, with the splendid stabling facilities offered by utilizing the frame structures left over from the farm congress, has attracted many breeders to enter their beef breeds at the Royal this year.

Arrangements are being made for the vaudeville attractions that will be sandwiched in between show classes during the day, and there will be plenty of them, too, along with music.

More than a half million dollars worth of pure bred beef cattle will be in the arena in Convention Hall on one day, this being the day when the groups and herds of all breeds are shown for the grand prizes. More than a million dollars worth of cattle have already been entered for showing and it is thought that the aggregate breed value of all cattle shown will reach to one and one-half million dollars by the time entries close.

Red Cross Aids War Department in Finding Owners of 150,000 Pieces of Baggage

Red Cross officials were notified today by the War Department that more than 150,000 pieces of lost baggage belonging to former officers and men of the American Expeditionary Forces, are stored on the Government docks at Hoboken, N. J. The impedimentia, which is unclaimed, consist of 20,000 trunk lockers, 15,000 bedrolls, 5,000 suitcases and 110,000 barrack bags which have come back from overseas.

Much of the baggage is marked with names only and cannot be forwarded to the owners; in all cases a new shipping address is required. As the Red Cross desires to assist each man from overseas to recover his lost property as well as to help the Government dispose of this enormous accumulation of property, owners of lost baggage are asked to forward their claims and present addresses to the "The Lost Baggage Branch, Pier 2, Hoboken, N. J.", together with an accurate description of the missing property.

A complete card index permits prompt indentification and the baggage will be forwarded at Government expense on hand at the docks.

Rapid Work in Divorce Court.

Bloomfield, Mo., Oct. 25. — Cupid works fast sometimes, but the circuit court here can work faster. In two hours yesterday seventeen couples spliced by Cupid had been unspliced by Judge Walker at the rate of one divorce degree every seven minutes.

The quickest divorce obtained during the session was that of Nellie B. Pemberton, who had her marital relationship severed in three minutes. Sixty-two divorce cases, most of which have been disposed of, were on the docket for this term of the court—the largest number, they say, in their memory. Bloomfield is beginning to believe it can beat Reno.

Obituary.

Lena Schweikhardt, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schweikhardt, was born in the Mt. Ayr neighborhood, near Maryville, Mo. February 23, 1906, and departed from this life after a brief illness of complicated diseases at her home in East Stanwood, Wash., October 16, 1919, aged 13 years, 7 months and 23 days. During her brief sickness she was cheerful through it all, never complained, and when she became conscious of the fact that she could not live she bade her parents, brothers and sisters to her bedside, and after each one offered prayer she bid them farewell, and remarked she "was not afraid to die." She was brought up under the influence of Christian training and therefore became a child of God at a very early age in life. In fact, she could not remember the time when she did not love her Lord and Master. She united with the Methodist Episcopal church at Mt. Ayr, and thence to the M. E. church at Myrtle Tree, and then, about seven months ago, she, with her parents, moved her membership to the M. E. church at Standwood, Wash., where she remained a faithful member until the end. Lena, as she was commonly called, was of a jovial disposition, kind in thought, words and deeds, and ever obedient to her parents, whom she dearly loved. Her spirit was born of the Master's love for her and her love for the Master. It was a character that seemed to say in every act, "I expect to pass this way but once; if there be any kindness that I can show, or any good thing that I can do, let me do it now; let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again." Of her life, we can say in the Master's own words, she was amongst us as one who served. "She hath done what she could." And of her death, of this sudden, unexpected and to us inexpressably sad passing of the loved daughter and sister, church member and Christian friend, we can say only this:

Through the deep silence of the moonless dark,
Leaving no footprint of the path she trod,
Straight as an arrow cleaving to its mark,
Her soul went home to God.
Alas, we cry, she never saw the morn,
But fell asleep out-wearied with the strife.
Nay, rather she arose and met the dawn
Of everlasting life.

Besides her parents, she leave to mourn three brothers and two sisters, Orville, Opal, Glen, Donald and Mildred Schkeikhardt, besides many relatives, as well as a host of friends. The funeral service was conducted Friday, October 24, at 2 p. m. from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mendenhall of Barnard, to the First M. E. church in Maryville, in the presence of a large concourse of sympathizing friends. Rev. Arthur S. Olsen, pastor of the Barnard M. E. church, officiating, assisted by Dr. G. S. Cox. Her six cousins acted as pallbearers. Interment was in the Maryville cemetery, where she was tenderly laid to rest alongside of her brother and sister, who preceded her several years ago. Her end was peace.

This Duck Wasn't a Duck.

St. Louis, Oct. 25.—This is a story wherein a duck was not a duck. Joseph Massini of Ogle Station went hunting. He saw a "duck" high in the air and brought it down with a well directed shot. He went to pick it up. The "duck" pecked out and pecked off the end of his finger. The "duck" was a white-headed eagle, with a head the size of a rat and measuring five feet from tip to tip of its wings. Massini says he is going to mount it.

GIVE TO THE LIVING.

If we gave unto the living as we lavish
on the dead,
Kindly thoughts and gentle phrases,
tender words and friendly praises,
Blotting out all imperfections, holding virtues up to light;
If we left no daily token of our love and care unspoken—
Then would life be well worth living in a world all glad and bright.

If we offered to the living, as we heap
upon the dead,
Fragrant flowers of affection, blossoms of sweet recollection, Waiting not till hands are folded on the quiet, pulseless breast.
Then the passion of our pleading would not fall on ears unheeding, Nor our tears fall, unavailing, on the weary form at rest.

If we gave unto the living as we lavish
on the dead
All our heart's long hidden treasure, all love's full, unstinted measure, Adding day by day, new jewels to the crown of human bliss.
Then life's burdens would weigh lightly, and the sun would shine more brightly,
And not heaven itself were fairer than a world as glad as this.

BOUND TO SHOW GRATITUDE

Tramp Probably Meant Well, but His Action Caused Considerable Embarrassment to Lawyer.

A young lawyer, whose cases were few, was asked to defend a poverty-stricken tramp accused of stealing a watch.

The lawyer pleaded with all the ardor at his command, drawing so pathetic a picture with such convincing energy that at the close of his argument the court was in tears, and even the tramp wept.

The jury deliberated but a few minutes, and returned the verdict, "Not guilty."

Then the tramp drew himself up, tears streaming down his face as he said to the lawyer:

"Sir, I have never heard so grand a plea. I have not cried before since I was a child. I have no money with which to reward you, but" (drawing a package from the depths of his ragged clothes) "here's that watch; take it and welcome."

Nominating Speech of the Future.

A woman who never yet asked a man to open a fruit jar (applause), a woman who concedes a latch key to be the rightful property and possession of the husband (Cries of 'Hear! Hear!'), a woman who scorns bread pudding as beneath the commonest family (loud shouts); a woman who has never disturbed the peace and quiet of the family by mentioning the furnace (applause); a woman—a modern woman to be sure, but not offensively modern—who buttons her own gowns (Cries of 'Name her! Name her!'); a woman whose tendency toward trading stamps and coupons assures a careful safeguard of public funds, and who would—(Nominated by acclamation).—Buffalo News.

Shortage of Medicine Bottles.

American manufacturers of medicine bottles are offered an excellent opportunity for the sale of their products in the English market today. Supplies are practically exhausted, reports Vice Consul Leroy Webber at Nottingham, and the retail druggists are looking to American makers to relieve the situation. The shortage appears to be particularly in bottles ranging in size from one dram to twenty ounces, in the white flint and quinine tint colors. The 8-ounce bottle, quinine tint, is considered the recognized size of the trade, and the selling price at present is $8.08 a gross, delivered free, as compared with $1.92 a gross paid in 1914. The panel bottles are made in all sizes and in both flint and quinine tint, while poison bottles are always dark blue, in conformity with the British Pharmacy act.

DECLARES CHRISTIAN SCIENCE IS NOT A BLIND FAITH CURE

Judge Samuel W. Greene, C. S., o Louisville, Ky., Lectures at Empire Theatre Here

"Christian Science, in its healing ministry, is not a patent cure-all, nor is it blind faith cure," declared Judge Samuel W. Greene, C. S., of Louisville, Ky., in his lecture yesterday afternoon in the Empire theatre on "Christian Science, the Religion of Fulfillment." "It is not the action of will power, nor is it the action of the human mind. On the contrary, it teaches that the human mind must yield to the divine mind, to that mind which also is Christ Jesus, and in the proportion that Christian Science is understood, the life and words of Christ Jesus become practicable for for all ages and all people.

"The Bible from beginning to end is filled with the most splendid promises for God's children, and unless we may believe that these promises are meant for the here and now, even for today, we are of all men most miserable; for otherwise we are without God and a saving religion in this life.

"What the world is wanting — is seeking — is a religion that comes to the sick and tells them how to be well; that comes to the despondent and discouraged and lifts them out of the slough of despair and despond into the richness, into the fullness, into the joy of a closer walk with God. Christian Science is supplying this need, through the spiritual interpretation of the Bible and the consequent spiritual understanding of God, and is enabling the world to find the rest and peace promised by the Master.

"Contrary to some critics of Christian Science, Mrs. Eddy never intended that the text book should take the place of the Bible, but it is to be read and studied in connection with the Bible."

BOWMAN COULD HARDLY WALK

In a Short Time Tanlac Builds Him Up and Rheumatism Disappears

"My wonderful improvement since I commenced taking Tanlac is not only a surprise to myself, but to all my friends and acquaintances," said C. W. Bowman while in the Owl drug store in Kansas City, Kansas, the other day.

Mr. Bowman is a switchman on the Kansas City Southern railway, and for fifteen years before taking up this work he was connected with the Armour Packing Co. His residence is 1422 North 30th street, Kansas City, Kansas.

"I just dropped in to get a bottle of Tanlac for my wife," continued Mr. Bowman, "You know, this medicine overcame a bad case of stomach trouble and nervous indigestion for me after everything else I tried had failed, and every time any of the folks get to feeling bad I just put them to taking Tanlac and they soon get straightened out all right. My trouble was of five years standing, and when I commenced taking Tanlac I had reached the point where everything I ate disagreed with me, and I would have the worst sort of cramping pains in the pit of my stomach after every meal. Sometimes while working along I would just get deathly sick at my stomach, and if I didn't stop and sit down until it passed off I would almost faint. I was badly constipated all the time, and was so nervous I couldn't sleep very much at night. My kidneys were out of order a great deal of the time, and I had rheumatism in my knees so bad at times I could hardly walk. I tell you, I was in a pretty bad fix, an dnothing seemed to do me any good.

"To tell the truth, I had very little faith in Tanlac doing me any good when I first commenced to take it, I just thought I would give it a trial. I soon found out that Tanlac was different from anything I had ever tackled for by the time I had taken a couple of bottles of it I commenced to feel a whole lot better. My appetite came back, and the condition of my stomach improved so much that I could eat most anything anybody else did, and I didn't suffer afterwards. Well, I just stuck to Tanlac until now I am a perfectly well man again, and can hustle around and do as much work as I ever did. No more rheumatism or kidney troubles, and never a sign of indigestion or stomach troubles. My nerves are as steady as a clock, and I get eight or ten hours good, sound sleep every night. Now that is what Tanlac did for me and that is why I believe in this medicine so strong. It brought me back to health when I was about down and out, and I believe it will do the same for anybody else who is in the same fix."

"Tanlac is sold in Maryville by Koch Pharmacy, in Conception Junction by A. M. Colly, in Pickering by H. M. Lincoln, in Burlington Junction by Coster Pharmacy, in Barnard by Bear Drug Co., in Elmo by King Drug Co., in Clearmont by Dr. W. H. Wilcy, in Ravenwood by C. A. Shunk, in Arkoe by Rufus R. Smith, in Hopkins by Hopkins Drugs Co., and in Parnell by F. L. Hart." ADV.

WESTMINSTER WHIPS S. T. C. IN FIRST GAME HERE, 27-6

Several Injuries Reported; Maryville's Score Was Made in the First Few Minutes

The State Teachers College was defeated at football Saturday afternoon on the college athletic field by Westminster college, 26 to 7. This was the college's first game at home.

The local college met a severe loss in the first few minutes of play, when Ramsey was taken out because of a broken nose. Richards took Ramsey's place at full, while Long was substituted in the line. Time was called several times by both teams.

Maryville's touchdown was made in the first few minutes of the game, when Westminster fumbled and King carried the ball over for a touchdown Richards kicked the goal, and this was the end of Maryville's scoring.

Several times the ball was on Maryville's 20 yard line, but Westminster was unable to go farther. Maryville held Westminster several times for down, thus compelling Westminster to punt.

Richards was taken out in the last few minutes of play suffering severely from a swollen leg.

Andrews starred for Westminster, making two touchdowns, one from a kickoff from the 70 yard line. Overstreet and Larke made the other scores for Westminster. Larke was taken out of the game because of a displaced ankle.

Megede, Westminster left half, at one time carried the ball within two yards of a touchdown. The ball was carried across by Shields, but did not count, as McIntoch, the right end for Westminster, was off side.

Fifteen boys and Coach Whitlow made the trip from Fulton.

3,000 HEAR IRISH PRESIDENT IN SPEECH AT ST. JOSEPH

Nodaway County Well Represented in Crowd That Attended the Program at Auditorium

A considerable delegation of Nodaway county Irish was included among the three thousand people who heard the Irish question discussed in the Auditorium yesterday afternoon by four speakers, headed by Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish republic.

Frank Walsh of Kansas City, Dr. James Gratton-Mythen, an Episcopalian minister of Baltimore, Md., and Lindsay Crawford, a newspaper publisher of Toronto, Canada, and prominent in the movement among the Independent Orangemen of Ireland until he left his native country nine years ago, all made impressive speeches, according to the St. Joseph News-Press.

That the great majority of the Irish, by vote, had expressed their desire for independence; that the prinicple of self-determination of small nations should be applied to the case of Ireland; that the Irish question was not a religious one,and that England held on to Ireland for her own selfish interests, were the points made by the four speakers.

Frank Walsh received a tremendous ovation when he arose to speak.

De Valera, in a convincing tone, forcefully presented the cause of his country to his hearers. He said when he was elected, he was elected on the platform of freedom for Ireland, and that those who voted for him voted for an independent Irish republic.

"I am here, first, as the official head of the republic established in Ireland," he said, "second, to tell of the danger to Irish liberty in the League of Nations which the United States is now asked to adopt, and, third, to foster direct trade relations with the United States."

Do not neglect the warning of nature. If your appetite is poor, breath bad, tongue coated, you will be sick unless you take steps to put your system in good condition. Prickly Ash Bitters is the remedy you need It purifies the bowels, strengthens digestion and regulates the liver. Price $1.25 per bottle. Maryville Drug Co., special agents. (Adv)

Everybody Wants a Wash-Lady

But they're mighty hard thing to find since the whole world went dry.

Here's where science steps in again to supply the automatic washer. The electric washing machine comes as near doing its work without watching as any machine can. You can put the clothes in and start the motor and it will wash clothes without any attention till you are ready to wring. Then the electricity operates the wringer and you only have to put the clothes into it.

The electric washer makes it possible for many women to do their own washing, where it would be absolutely impossible the old way. It saves work, saves clothes and saves money, besides doing the work better than ordinary washing.

RED CROSS GIVES FULL ACCOUNTING

War Council Tells How Millions Contributed by Public Were Used For Relief.

BIG TASK IS DESCRIBED

In Twenty Months $154,000,000 Was Spent Overseas and $119,000,000, In the United States.

Washington. (Special.)—Through a complete report of the work of the American Red Cross in the war by Chairman Henry P. Davison, on behalf of the war council, the organization on the eve of its annual enrollment of members during the Third Red Cross Roll Call, November 2 to 11, has rendered an accounting of the many millions given it by the American people to help our fighting men and our allies. The statement is, in part, as follows:

"The war council of the American Red Cross is now prepared to make a complete accounting to the American people of money contributed and expended, as well as the work done by the American Red Cross during the period in which the war council was in control of its affairs. The war council was appointed May 19, 1919, and went out of existence February 28, 1919.

"It was the practice of the war council to give complete publicity to its policies and finances, but it is only now that a picture of the war period as a whole can be presented. It is the feeling of the war council that a report in this summarized form should be made directly to the public which provided the money and gave the effort which made the American Red Cross a success.

"A statement of the American Red Cross effort and finances since the war council relinquished its control will be made to the public through the executive committee, and it is important, therefore, that the fact that this report covers the period only until March 1, should be carefully noted."

Following are certain round figures covering American Red Cross participation in the war, as revealed by the war council's report:

P. J. Hainey Presents Old Gun.

The following item of interest to Nodaway County people is from the general news column of the October 15 issue of the Young Catholic Messenger, published at Dayton, Ohio:

A shot gun used in the battle of Bunker Hill, in 1775, and the battle of New Orleans in 1815, has been presented to the State Historical Society at Columbia by P. J. Hainey, of Barnard, Mo. It is an old model muzzle loader, fifty-nine niches long with a forty three-inch barrel. It has the same lock, stock and barrell used at Bunker Hill, and though much worn, can still shoot. On the stock is attached a tallow and patch box which was used to grease the balls when loaded in the gun.

Teachers of State Are Divided on Subject of Forming Union

Views of Missouri educators on the subject of federation of teachers and affiliation with the American Federation of Labor are published in the current number of The Missouri School Journal. The views were not supposed to cover a debate on the subject, but express the personal opinion of the writers.

Several of the expressions follow:

Dean C. A. Phillips, State Teachers' College, Warrensbug—The time for debate on this question has passed and it is now time for action. It is no longer a question of whether teachers should become a part of the American Federation of Labor, but how soon it can be done. Such a procedeure is the most promising means to avert further disaster to the schools and teachers of the state and nation. Already several thousand teachers have left the profession; the profession lost in morale, and the schools have lost in efficiency. The federation is the best agency to restore efficiency in schools.

W. S. Dearmont, President State Teachers College, Cape Girardeau—The teachers have a legal remedy for their difficulties and are under a sacred obligation to seek their rights through legal means. Labor organizations are differently situated and are often without a legal remedy. The methods they must often resort to, to secure their rights are methods that teachers are not compelled to use. Teachers' organizations must, therefore, not be affiliated with other organizations, the rules of which might require disorder and serve one group of people against another, for public school teachers are public officials serving all the people.

John P. Glass, school superintendent, Sedalia—It is very true that teachers are poorly paid but would joining a union help conditions? Would teachers be benefited by being subjected to the "walking boss" or compelled to join in sympathetic strikes? Surely nothing worth while could be gained by this course. If teaching is really a profession, like medicine or law, some of us do not think teachers should affiliate with organized labor. For Missouri teachers to rush madly into labor movements at the instigation of hotheads, would only add confusion and dissatisfaction to present conditions.

J. R. Crisman, superintendent of the training school, Warrensburg State Teachers' College—If the Missouri Federation only opposes the labor union type of federation it will be supplanted We need nomeny, but we need the confidence, sympathy and support of our patrons more. To avoid reaction and move steadily forward is to organize with the people not against them.

E. L. Henricks, president State Teachers'' College, Warrensburg—I would not hazard a guess on the final outcome of the affiliation of the American Federation of Teachers with the American Federation of Labor. My opinion of the American Federation of Teachers is that their ultimate object is not the mere increase of their salaries, but the preservation of the public school system.

Tracing Bomb Fiends.

The X-rays are to be used by the police in examining bombs that may be sent to citizens. By this means, it is expected, that tell-tale evidence, including, perhaps, finger prints, will be obtained and kept to aid the police in their work. Particular warning was issued by the bomb squad against hand grenades that have been kept by returning soldiers as souvenirs. It was said that if these fell into the hands of anarchists they could be loaded with deadly explosive and would be particularly dangerous.

A Longer Wait.

A New York banker figures out that the dollar is now worth but 50 cents. On that basis our creditors will have to wait twice as long as we thought they would for the money we owe them.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cummins have returned from Des Moines, Ia., where they visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Muelhaupt, Sr.

NEW CAR'S DESIGN HAS SERVICE BUILT IN

Willys-Overland Dealer Predicts Car With Service Troubles Squeezed Out by Careful Engineering

How to keep a car you drive out of the repair shop when you need it for the business trip or on the Saturdays and Sundays you planned to spend in the country with the family has long been an owner-worry.

That the real solution of the service problem will be found shortly in the construction of the motor car itself is the interesting prediction of J. H. Sewell, Willys-Overland dealer in Maryville, Mo.

"The light weight popular car of tomorrow," says Mr. Sewell, "will have its service built right into it. Today the purchaser of any car expects to undergo certain service adjustments, repairs and so forth after his car goes into use. Tomorrow he will ask that most of this sort of service be built into the car before he buys it.

"And this can be done with the careful election of material and the right balancing of parts in a car of right design. Manufacturers who retain leadership will check these important details as never before. They will be certain that their car is right before the public passes judgment.

"Take, for example, the two years of tests made by the Willys-Overland Company after the completion of its new car which will soon be on the market. Every detail was put through tests equal to the average life strain before it was approved for the car.

"Owners nowadays have very definite ideas about the qualities a car should have. You appreciate that fact when you watch prospects looking closely into the design of the car under consideration.

"To get actual light weight, which in itself saves tires, gasoline and car-wear," continued Mr Sewell, "nearly every one knows now that a car must be designed light weight. It cannot merely be a heavier car shaved down in weight.

"In designing the new Overland, Willys-Overland engineers appreciate from the start that the light weight car to meet the requirements of comfort and economy must be a newly designed car from the ground up—new chassis, new body, new springs are the result. The new Overland Four is bound instantly to command itself to the discriminating motor car buyer because it is actually a new type of car—a direct answer to the list of requirements every motorist has in mind.

"Service is built right into it. The chassis, for instance, is as simple as an outline drawing. There are only five units to assemble in the car and the feature of the new design (making a car more accessible and more easily get-at-able than any car I have yet seen) is the new cantilever spring suspension which introduces an absolutely new riding comfort and an entirely new protection for the car.

"These elements combine to keep the car in uninterrupted use, free from the usual garage and repair bills. We believe this car will help solve the service problem in the way I have indicated." (Adv)
